Our products

Our high quality, handmade-to-order, realistic fake pregnant belly products are available in either silicone or foam to suit a range of wearers and different budgets. Shapes and sizes have been perfected through years of experience and research on pregnant tummies, allowing us to create products which look and feel very natural as well as being comfortable and secure to wear.

Silicone Belly

Made with medical grade silicone which looks & feels astonishingly lifelike, our silicone belly has been designed with performance in mind.

Foam Belly

Our foam pregnant belly is a more economical option. It's ideal for use when durability & a natural skin-like feel are not as important.

All our bumps are attached to breathable, stretchy fabric bodysuits which hold the shape securely in the correct position. We're always more than happy to chat through your specific requirements and establish which of our products will best suit your needs.

Foam Pregnant Bellies

Our foam belly offers many of the benefits of our silicone pregnant belly product but at a far more economical cost. It's ideal for use where durability and a natural skin-like feel and look are not as important. Popular for low-budget photography, these are also ideal for retailers needing 'pregnant' display mannequins or for school plays.
